CEO Message

Our Values are a credo by which we express the type of Firm and people we hope to be. Each individual value is important and expressed in different ways. This report profiles how we demonstrate our Giving Back value: “We hope to make the world a better place by giving back to the communities in which we live and work.”

The examples contained herein highlight only a small portion of the volunteer commitments and philanthropic activities that the greater American Securities family undertakes in an effort to make the world a better place.

In the spirit of helping others, we elected to make our annual special holiday contribution to SEO Scholars. SEO Scholars is a free, eight-year academic program that educates and mentors underserved public high school students to and through college, resulting in a 90% college graduation rate. As detailed in this report, American Securities also supports SEO’s Alternative Investments Fellowship Program (AIFP). AIFP promotes diversity in the alternatives sector by providing education, access, and career development opportunities to professionals who are traditionally underrepresented in our sector.

Since 2017, American Securities has supported a grassroots organization providing educational and medical services to Syrian refugee children in Lebanon. Included in this book is a profile of the third project that we funded in partnership with Refugee Protection International (RPI) and Multi Aid Programs (MAPs) to support the education of Syrian refugees in Lebanon. American Securities is pleased with the outcome of the project and continues to support RPI and MAPs in 2020 as they implement similar programs at refugee settlements in Lebanon.

2019 marks the ninth anniversary of two programs to further encourage charitable contributions from American Securities colleagues: the Giving Back Grant and the Matching Grant Program. In this year’s report, we have compiled data from inception for both programs, which illustrates the breadth of the organizations supported by our colleagues. We are proud to support non-profit organizations that are important to our team members.

The topic of Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) has become highly relevant to both public and private companies. Since the Firm’s inception, being a responsible citizen has been an implicit part of our culture, made explicit when we put our values, including Giving Back, in writing in 2008. In 2019, we revised our ESG policy as shown in this year’s report to reflect our expanded commitment to ESG.

I hope that you share our pride in reading this book and that each of us will further dedicate personal time and treasure in service to others in 2020.

Sincerely,

Michael G. Fisch

Volunteering at Grace Institute

Volunteering at the West Side Campaign Against Hunger

Participating in the Hope Run to benefit the Shanghai Cancer Center
2019 Giving Back Days

For our Giving Back Days in New York, we divided into five smaller groups to participate in two different volunteer activities. In June, 19 colleagues returned to Grace Institute for a sixth consecutive year to work with an incoming class of students, focusing on workforce development. In the second half of the year, four groups of colleagues (57 in total) volunteered at the West Side Campaign Against Hunger to help package food items and organize their food pantry and social hall.

In China, our colleagues again partnered with the Fudan University Shanghai Cancer Center to raise awareness about colorectal cancer prevention and treatment.
In June 2019, 19 American Securities volunteers returned to Grace Institute to help with the professional development of unemployed and underemployed women. We started the day with an icebreaker bingo game where Grace students found American Securities volunteers who matched various personality traits listed on their bingo cards. Later, we broke into small group sessions focused on cultivating your digital presence and network, time and stakeholder management, interview preparation, and negotiation. We also participated in a public speaking exercise, where everyone shared their story for one minute, and then talked about ways to build self-esteem, communicate naturally and effectively, and promote self-confidence in others. We finished the day by sharing our experiences with the broader group and discussing what both Grace participants and American Securities colleagues had learned.

Additionally, American Securities donated New York City MetroCards to Grace students, providing an incoming student body of 30 women with public transportation fare for the duration of their three-month program. Finally, in October, the Firm sponsored an annual fundraiser, Breakfast with Grace, to support Grace Institute’s programs.

Founded in 1897, over 100,000 women have come through Grace Institute’s doors. Today, Grace Institute serves as a leader in workforce development for women. It serves 300 women annually by developing advanced computer and professional skills to prepare students for administrative and customer support positions in industries such as banking, non-profit, health care, and hospitality.
West Side Campaign Against Hunger

Across four sessions in Summer and Fall 2019, 57 American Securities volunteers visited the West Side Campaign Against Hunger (WSCAH) to perform various tasks in the organization’s food pantry and social hall. After an orientation and tour, we were divided into teams with various responsibilities. American Securities colleagues measured and packaged bulk goods into small containers and individual portions, received food deliveries, re-stocked areas of the pantry where customers select their food items using reserves from the stockroom, and assisted customers. We also sorted and folded in-kind donations of clothing and other household items. Additionally, American Securities volunteers assisted staff by breaking down delivery boxes and taking out garbage and recycling items from the kitchen. In November, American Securities colleagues donated funds to purchase 1,404 turkeys for WSCAH’s Thanksgiving Turkey Drive. Lastly, we provided WSCAH with a monetary donation to help support their mission.

West Side Campaign Against Hunger alleviates hunger by ensuring that all New Yorkers have access with dignity to a choice of healthy food and supportive services. In 2019, WSCAH distributed over 1.6 million pounds of food to 20,600 New Yorkers, including over 670,000 pounds of fresh fruits and vegetables.
In February 2019, our colleagues in China organized an outing to the Spring Lantern Festival for colorectal cancer (CRC) patients from the Fudan University Shanghai Cancer Center (SCC). The festival is the first major feast following Chinese New Year and is especially poignant for cancer patients since the paper lanterns symbolize the wish for a bright future.

One particular patient has reason to hope for such a future. In 2019, SCC provided free colorectal cancer screenings sponsored by American Securities. For Meifang, who participated in a free screening, the results showed that she was in the early stages of CRC and she made the decision to have the necessary surgery. American Securities colleagues visited Meifang in the hospital shortly thereafter.

American Securities continued to support cancer patients and cancer research by raising funds to participate in SCC’s Hope Run in November 2019. Participants include cancer survivors, medical workers, college students, and volunteers.

This year, SCC will be publishing a CRC awareness survey completed with the assistance of the American Securities team. CRC is the second most common form of cancer in Shanghai after lung cancer. SCC and our American Securities colleagues aim to raise awareness about CRC prevention and treatment.

The Fudan University Shanghai Cancer Center engages in clinical practice, medical education, oncological research, and cancer prevention. Founded in 1931 as the first hospital specializing in oncology in China, SCC is deeply committed to providing patients with quality medical services in a palatable and comfortable treatment environment.
2019 marks the ninth anniversary of two programs to further encourage charitable contributions from colleagues: the Giving Back Grant, which allows each administrative colleague to direct $500 from the American Securities Foundation to charities of his or her choice, and the Matching Grant Program, in which American Securities matches donations made by all colleagues up to $5,000 per person.

The charts on the following page contain data from inception to present for both programs to illustrate the breadth of the organizations supported by our colleagues. The Giving Back Grant has resulted in 352 donations totaling nearly $134,000 to 154 organizations. The Matching Grant Program has resulted in 472 matches totaling more than $650,000 to 199 organizations.

We are proud to support non-profits that are near and dear to our team members.
In 2019, the American Securities Foundation continued to support on-the-ground relief efforts for those affected by the Syrian civil war. Ongoing since 2011, the Syrian civil war has caused 5.6 million people to flee Syria according to the United Nations Refugee Agency. An additional 6.6 million Syrians have been displaced from their homes, but remain within the country’s borders. We extended our partnership, which began in 2017, with Refugee Protection International (RPI) and Multi Aid Programs (MAPs) to support the education of Syrian refugees in Lebanon.

Amid a global displacement crisis of unprecedented scale, RPI offers donors a cost-effective and strategic model of humanitarian aid. It is light on overhead, strong on programming, and supportive of local relief capacity. RPI identifies protection and self-reliance gaps facing the most vulnerable refugees and internally displaced persons near conflict zones. In collaboration with grassroots non-profits in the Middle East, RPI co-designs and supports projects implemented in education, housing, documentation, psychosocial support, and access to urgent and safe medical care. RPI provides its partners with technical assistance, logistical support with sourcing and packing equipment and supplies, project grants, and monitoring.

MAPs, based in Lebanon, is a grassroots non-profit that aims to develop the capacity of individuals to create good, dignified societies by promoting the best of human knowledge, understanding, and values. Since its inception in 2013, the organization has provided over 550,000 Syrian refugees in Lebanon with non-formal education, health care, continuing education, community service, and relief items. MAPs has distinguished itself among other NGOs through the breadth and quality of its humanitarian services in education, health, relief, training, and capacity building.

In the 2016–2017 school year, American Securities funded a collaboration between RPI and MAPs to educate refugee children at the Al-Amal Teaching Center in the Al-Awda settlement located in the Bekaa Valley. We funded half a scholastic year of teacher salaries and benefits, books and school uniforms, student activities, transportation, and other administrative and operational expenses, including water, electricity, and maintenance. In the 2017–2018 school year, we expanded the program to cover part of the teacher salaries and books at four additional Al-Amal educational centers, including the Aidoun, Nawerni, Aarsal 3, and Saadnayel teaching centers in Lebanon. In the 2018–2019 school year, we continued our initiatives to fund three Al-Amal educational centers, including Al Faour, Marj, and Sawasia.
As a result of these programs, students have had the opportunity to learn, think critically, and play in a safe environment with fewer psychological burdens. Classes include mathematics, Arabic, English, science, human values, culture, and physical education, and include regular testing and evaluation of each student. A number of students had additional access to offsite educational facilities, including an applied science lab, art room, computer lab, and robotics club. Several robotics teams attended programming courses and participated in the Robogee Competition, a nation-wide robotics competition. MAPs also provided professional development training for teachers and staff during the school year.

During the 2018–2019 academic year, our grant benefited 3,910 Syrian refugees in Lebanon, including 37 teachers/staff members and their families (approximately 185 individuals) and 745 students and their families (3,725 individuals). Approximately 100 of the students also had the opportunity to access the Continuing Education and Community Service Program, where they had access to the Applied Science Lab, Art Room, Programming Sessions, Computer Lab, Robotics Club, and other capacity building programs. The program further included medical awareness initiatives that informed individuals where to receive affordable care through two campaigns focused on dental screening and ear, nose, and throat screening, with medications dispersed when necessary. In addition, 12 pregnant women received nutrition and prenatal information.

The following are personal impact stories from some of the children who participated in the project:

• Heba is a 15-year-old girl who has studied for two consecutive years at the Marj Teaching Center in fourth and fifth grades. The school is located in Al-Hamdanieh informal settlement where she lives with her family. After her acceleration in all subjects, in particular English, MAPs encouraged Heba to move to the official Lebanese school. Although Heba was in fifth grade, she was able to pass the entrance exam and was at a seventh grade level. Today, she has reached eighth grade at the school in Bar Elias, Bekaa. Further, Heba has encouraged her sisters to learn at Al-Amal Centers in Bekaa and teaches her sibling English at home. Recently, she participated in the Children of Hope press conference, where nine students called upon the international community to support the education of a quarter of a million Syrian children in Lebanon. She also competed last year in Robogee 2, the largest robotics tournament for Syrian refugees organized by MAPs and won an award with her team. Heba is currently planning to teach children in her informal settlement who cannot access formal and informal schools as part of the Children of Hope initiative.

• Kawthar currently lives in the Al Rahma informal settlement near the Sawsia teaching center and has been a student at Al-Amal for four years. She aspires to be a general surgery specialist to help people. Since enrolling at the MAPs teaching center, Kawthar realized her love for robotics and technology after courses in MAPs’ Continuing Education Program. Like Heba, Kawthar participated in Robogee 2 and won an award. She also competed with Syria’s Hope team in the robotics tournament at the Lebanese International University and won more than one award. In addition, Kawthar also participated in the Children of Hope press conference, where she built her capacity in advocacy and demanded her right to secondary education.

American Securities is pleased with the outcome of the project and continues to support RPI and MAPs in 2020 as they implement similar programs at refugee settlements in Lebanon.
In 2018, American Securities began an initiative to implement a long-term diversity and inclusion (D&I) strategy with the goals of creating an even more diverse organization and continuing to harness the power of unique perspectives and insights. As part of that effort, we undertook research to identify partners focused on creating a more diverse and inclusive workplace. Racial, ethnic, and socioeconomic inequality in education has a long and persistent history in the United States. These gaps in educational opportunity often lead to an opportunity gap as underserved students embark on their college and professional careers. Based on our research, we chose to partner with SEO.

Based in New York, SEO was founded in 1963 as a mentoring program to help underserved students gain admission to competitive colleges and universities. In 2006, U.S. Department of Education research indicated that “A” work in low-income schools equals “C” work in affluent schools, driving SEO’s transformation from a mentor-centered experience to a rigorous out-of-school academic program, SEO Scholars, that begins in high school and continues through college graduation.

Since its inception, SEO has augmented achievement for more than 14,000 young people from underserved and underrepresented communities, including Diego Kantt, a Vice President on the American Securities Investment Team and former SEO Career participant who remains active with the organization. Today, SEO is organized across four distinct programs intended to serve the target population across all stages of their educational and professional development.

- SEO Scholars: A free eight-year academic program that helps low-income public high school students to and through college with a 90% college graduation rate. All Scholars are accepted to four-year colleges and 85% are first-generation college graduates. Over 75% of current SEO Scholars are attending competitive colleges.

- SEO Career: A professional development program providing Black, Hispanic, and Native American undergrads with industry exposure, career guidance, interview skills, and training as they pursue internship opportunities. Four out of five SEO Career interns receive full-time job offers from SEO partner companies. SEO Career partners with 80+ organizations offering summer internships.

- SEO Law Fellowship: A program that offers incoming underrepresented law school students the opportunity to receive a paid internship at a top law firm during the summer before law school. The 1,600+ person network of SEO Law alumni have gone on to work as: Chief Legal Officers, U.S. District Attorneys, Deputy/Assistant Attorneys General, U.S. District Court Judges, and U.S. Cabinet/Congress Members. SEO Law partners with more than 41 law firms in 12 cities across the U.S.

- SEO Alternative Investments: A program designed to mentor and train top, underrepresented analysts to compete for private equity and alternative investments roles. SEO partners with leading alternative investment firms to promote diversity and hosts the annual SEO Alternative Investments Conference in New York City.
American Securities joined SEO’s Alternative Investments Fellowship Program (AIFP) in 2018 and we completed our first full year as a sponsor in 2019. As envisioned upon its inception in 2009, the AIFP has become an industry-wide education program. Through the AIFP, high-achieving, pre-MBA, young professionals, from traditionally underrepresented populations (Black, Hispanic, and Native American, as well as Asian women) gain the education, training, and mentoring necessary to succeed in the alternative investments industry. Fellows receive in-depth exposure and hands-on development, which include intensive mock interviews, case studies, financial modeling, and breakfast seminars led by senior management from AIFP partner firms. The AIFP forms a bridge between Fellows and careers in the alternatives sector, working with first- and second-year investment banking analysts at bulge bracket or boutique investment banks in New York City to compete for opportunities on the buy-side.

In 2019, American Securities and its colleagues have engaged with SEO across a number of opportunities, including:

• Sponsored the SEO Alternative Investments Conference in March 2019

• Supported the SEO 2019 Annual Award Dinner in April 2019

• Hosted an informational breakfast at American Securities for AIFP applicants in July 2019

• Participated in the interview process to select the AIFP class in August 2019

• In May and October 2019, Bahaa Naamani, a Principal on the Investment Team, presented a case study on Unifrax (a former portfolio company) to college seniors starting investment banking jobs in 2019 and 2020

• Mentoring relationships with two SEO fellows (each has one senior and one junior mentor) on an ongoing basis

  - Aaron Maeng and Mark Lovett, both Principals on the Investment Team, as well as Nick Martin and Tony Goo, both Associates on the Investment Team, currently serve as mentors

Most recently, American Securities made its end-of-year holiday contribution in support of SEO Scholars. We are excited to have established this relationship with SEO and look forward to providing further support to its programs and participants in 2020 in order to promote diversity in the alternatives sector.
Since the Firm’s inception, being a responsible global citizen has been an explicit part of our culture.

This has evolved into the following written environmental, social, and governance (ESG) policy, which was codified in July 2016 and revised in 2019 to align with the changing ESG landscape.
PRINCIPLES:

In recognition that ESG matters are vital to both risk mitigation and value creation, we are following the principles below to identify and manage ESG risks and opportunities in connection with the ASP funds’ activities. We believe that this policy is consistent with the American Investment Council Guidelines for Responsible Investment.

Environment: Seek to grow and improve the companies with which we partner for long-term sustainability with the goal of improving performance and minimizing any adverse environmental or societal impacts on individuals, communities, or the planet.

Social: Ensure a safe and healthy working environment for all employees of portfolio companies by paying competitive wages and benefits, preventing harassment and discrimination, emphasizing workplace safety, and promoting diversity. Additionally, we respect basic human rights in all that we do and seek to confirm all company operations and supply chains do not facilitate discriminatory behavior, child labor, forced labor, or modern slavery.

Governance: Remain committed to proper governance structures and practice by adhering to all applicable state, national, and international laws and promoting best practices with respect to ethical conduct, anti-bribery and corruption, and data privacy and security.

IMPLEMENTATION:

We are taking the following actions in order to effectively integrate ESG considerations into our investment process.

1. Conduct ESG due diligence on platform acquisitions to identify material risks, as well as opportunities for value creation.

2. Work with company management to remediate any ESG risks identified in diligence and monitor material ESG issues on an at least annual basis to promote continuous improvement.

3. Communicate with investors with respect to material ESG-related matters at least annually, and where appropriate, notify investors of significant negative ESG incidents as they might arise with respect to a particular portfolio company.

4. Provide resources and training on ESG-related matters and best practices, including leveraging outside consultants where appropriate.
